

FEE SYSTEM REPEAL FORECAST

3 DISMISSED FROM ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Dismissal of three members of the Athletic Council by the School Board here Thursday night climaxed a long standing feud between the Council and Board.

Penn Wolf, District Clerk and S. A. Cottle, hotel owner, both charter members of the Cameron Athletic Council and long time friends of athletics, were dropped from the roll. The third member dismissed is Alvin Mondrik, merchant, who succeeded Frank Cheeves on the Council.

Variance of opinion over policy and administrative details has characterized relations between board and council for some time, it was said. Disagreements with Superintendent E. A. Perrin was said by two members dismissed, to have colored the controversy and contributed to the breach.

Mondrik was believed to be an innocent victim of the slash which the board projected as a re-organization movement for the council by restricting its membership. He had taken no part in any of the political activities or personal disagreements that are said to have been more or less frequent over a period of time.

Early in 1936 feeling over the dismissal of a member of the faculty here led to an open fight in which certain members of the Athletic Council were charged with having engaged in a political campaign to change the system of selecting trustees from the appointive to the elective system. The Athletic Council generally suffered the implication of offering candidates to unseat certain board members. Again recently when two new board members were named the old feeling bobbed up but with less animosity.

Superintendent Perrin and the Board have been frequently caught in the vortex of disagreements and it was generally known that the Athletic Council felt it did not have sufficient authority. Under the terms of the act creating the Athletic Council absolute control was vested in the Board.

An effort was made to drop Albert Collins from the Council. He along with J. R. Hays, Postmaster, is counted among the council members who at different times have had disagreements with Board and Superintendent.

Mr. Cottle was, at the inception of the Council some years ago, called upon to suggest a list of men available. Accordingly he all but named the original council of which he and Wolf were members. The Council has a noteworthy record. Wolf and Cottle, veterans, were in the vanguard of all progress since the creation of the body three years ago.

The vote to dismiss was 4 to 2. Voting for dismissal were P. S. Lesovsky, H. H. Stedman, Dr. T. E. Crump and H. M. Akers. Voting against dismissal were Mrs. W. O. Triggs and Drayton McLane, both new members of the board.

RAYMOND HAIGH BUYS BALDWIN INTERESTS

Raymond Haigh of Eagle Lake has purchased the interest of John T. Baldwin in the Mauritz-Baldwin Corporation in Cameron.

Mr. Haigh became part owner of the store on Monday, May 17th, when final details of the purchase were approved.

For 10 years Mr. Haigh had been with the Frank Stephens Company in Eagle Lake as a salesman in placing McCormick-Deering farm implements and Farmall Tractors, the line to be featured in the Cameron store.

The store in Cameron will continue under the name of Mauritz-Baldwin Corporation. Miss Ruth Baldwin, bookkeeper for her father in the business will continue her work in the office.

Mr. Haigh was favorably impressed by the territory contiguous to the Cameron store and expressed the hope that the service of the store might be extended to include benefits to all the farmers in encouraging better equipment.

Mr. Baldwin will be with the firm for a few weeks to assist in every way possible with the introduction of Mr. Haigh as the new manager of the store.

Mr. Haigh comes to the Cameron store with a wealth of experience as one schooled in the implement business and thoroughly alive to the needs and possibilities of his new field.

Mrs. Haigh and their six children will move to Cameron within the next few weeks.

GOVERNOR SAYS SALARY PLAN BREAKING COUNTY

Milam county, facing a $20,000 a year toll on its general fund to pay salaries since the fee system was abolished, was happy to note the progress made in the Texas Legislature yesterday when both houses voted to submit an amendment to return to the fee system.

Governor Allred said the salary plan had been a failure and is bankrupting many Texas counties. A return to the fee system was regarded as the best plan to protect treasury surpluses.

Under the fee system officials earn their salaries and people who transact business with the government pay the bill.

FUN with FACTS

THE FUN

Fasten one end of a three or four inch piece of elastic or string to a key or other object of similar size and weight. Taking the other end of the elastic, draw the key slowly across a desk or table. Draw it across rapidly. Now draw it slowly in a direction following the circumference of a circle a foot or so in diameter. Draw it around this arc rapidly. In this last case you will see that the weight goes tumbling out of the circle. Try it at various speeds, and over the imaginary circumference of circles of varying widths.

THE FACTS

Inertia is the tendency of bodies in motion to remain in motion in a straight line. On a curve, the car, tending to continue in a straight line, exerts considerable force in the direction of the outer edge. At low speeds there is more time in which to change gradually the direction of the car. At high speeds the car continues in a straight line and goes off the road at the curve. There is no way of evading the laws of inertia.

"ONLY THE BEST"

I have never seen a legislative body that was apparently so lacking in independent leadership as the American Congress. There are any number of able and highly respected Members, but the procedural system that makes it almost mandatory that any important legislation originate in a Committee charged with handling that kind of legislation, makes it impossible for these individuals to exercise the influence on general legislation that they would exercise in a more individualistic legislative body.

Most of the Committees in turn rely very largely upon Executive recommendations and the result is that with the President fishing on the Texas Coast the whole governmental machine has materially slowed down, including the Congress. The Senate was only in session two days this past week and the House four. Neither one accomplished very much.

On Wednesday the House finally passed, by a vote of 171 to a vote of 153, a bill providing two and one-half million dollars of federal aid for reforestation of cut-over lands. I think the purpose is laudable, but it certainly seems to me that if we are to effect any economies in government we are not going to be able to extend this kind of aid to privately owned lands and I voted against the bill.

The Agriculture Committee is still working on the Sugar Bill and it is reported that they are ready to bring a bill out as soon as Chairman Marvin Jones, who has been ill, is able to attend their meetings. It is understood that the bill they will recommend will divide the American sugar market and establish quotas giving the American producers approximately one-fourth of the total market, giving another large share to Hawaii and Porto Rico and the largest block of all to Cuba, with a relatively small per cent of the market left to other nations. I have not yet been able to understand why we should limit domestic production of any commodity that we import in great quantities, as we do sugar. We are told by the State Department that we must do it in order to maintain a stable government in Cuba. I do not know why the American farmer and sugar consumers should be called upon to carry the burden of maintaining a stable government in Cuba. As I see it, it is more important that our own people be given every opportunity to supply the American market and that American consumers be given an opportunity to buy sugar at the cheapest prices, than it is for the American Congress to attempt to protect the investment of the international bankers in Cuba. This sugar bill has brought the biggest lobby to Washington that I have seen. I think it will bear watching on the part of the people.

This past week an Associated Press reporter from Texas discovered that I liked to go down to the Botanical Gardens and putter around. There is not room there to do any real work, but it is about the only opportunity I have of getting in the open. When he found someone who preferred to work in a flower garden than to play golf he considered it so unique that he took some pictures of me and they appeared in a number of the papers. The next day four other photographers came by to get similar pictures. I do not know what they will do with these pictures, but if they publish them all I am afraid that the folks back home are going to get the idea that I am making a crop here in Washington, rather than legislating. I told these reporters that in order to make some of my people believe that these were authentic photographs they were going to have to state that I was digging worms—although I have no place to fish except among the gold fish in the Capital fountains.

During this week there has been a delegation of Texas business men here to urge the establishment of a "Cotton-Use Laboratory" somewhere in Texas. I consider this one of the most important things that could be done for Texas and the South, and I had personally taken the matter up with the Department of Agriculture about two months ago. Other Texas Congressmen have urged the same thing and recently the Texas House of Representatives passed a bill providing a quarter of million dollars of State money to buy a site and erect buildings for such a laboratory, if the Federal Government would maintain it. The Texas delegation appointed a committee, of which I am a member, to work on the project and it is our plan to push it to the best of our ability just as soon as we are advised that the Texas Senate has passed the above-mentioned bill.

Red Coral Always Prized

It is red coral that is and always has been prized, not solely for jewelry and buttons, but as a charm to bring safety, health and secrets not revealed to the ordinary person. As ancient Gauls rushed headlong into battle, they trusted their safety to their swords, strength and the "magic" coral imbedded in their shields or helmets. Many Italians and Indians regard coral as protection against the "evil eye." The world's red coral comes from the reefs off the Mediterranean coast of Africa, says the Washington Post, and is obtained chiefly by Italians.

JIM FERGUSONGOVERNOR POLITICS

Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

The next Governor's race while not yet assuming definite alignment, is never-the-less the occasion of frequent discussion. There are three people who are prominently mentioned. They are: William McCraw, Attorney General, Ernest Thompson, Railroad Commissioner, and Robert Lee Bobbit, Chairman of the Highway Commission.

While others have been mentioned, but only by slight reference, McCraw, Thompson and Bobbit have almost reached the degree of avowed candidates. Politically speaking the three have many things in common. All three are on most cordial terms with Governor Allred who would receive their support in a contest with Senator Connally which now seems certain. All three now in office filling unexpired terms. All three are prohibitionists. All three are opposed to the sales tax and are quoted to be in accord with Governor Allred's policy of opposition to liberal pensions. All three are much alike in that none of them have announced any plan or policy of taxation. None of the three have announced any plan to bring about governmental economy or retrenchment. All three were of the Ku Klux Klan alignment. All three are against the President on the Court bill. They are alike in that none of them have declared against Communists or the Facists. They are all three intensely active in contacting the voter and meeting the dear people.

All three will make strong showing in the campaign. It is a horse race already and by the way, all three are in favor of the repeal of racing. I never saw three prospective more alike. They all want the same office. This seems to be the only point of difference.

Bill McCraw, as his friends from the sticks call him, is as busy as a cat on a hot rock these days, and Oh! me, how fast he does travel, on official business of course, and he is certainly carrying some kind of news to many. Bill has about 30 active assistants in his office who manage to find opportunity at lunch time to tell everybody what a lead pipe cinch he has to win the race.

Ernest Thompson is a going piece of political machinery too, and if he lines up the appointees in the Railroad Commission and the truck and bus divisions and then re-inforce with the oil and gas department and its hundreds of appointments he certainly will have a formidable political army that will have to be reckoned with, in the final totals at the polls. Watch this red head from the Panhandle. He ain't no slouch.

Lee Bobbit, less reserved and probably less active, may get his stride before the home stretch is reached, and with almost the unanimous support and influence of the Highway department appointees he will make somebody hard to catch, and he may gum up the cards considerable. If Jimmie Allred gets behind Bobbit, then the fat will be in the fire sure enough and the devil will be to pay.

All this is the set up in the Governor's race as I see and hear it today. It is all subject to change. The people may take a different view altogether and express a desire for a new kind of candidate advancing a new brand of statesmanship. There is certainly need of reform and whether the masses will call some Cincinnati from the plow to bring relief remains to be seen. It is the people's move if they are not satisfied and want a change.

The situation is serious and as the election is many months away, we should keep our heads cool and our powder dry and not make any political purchases until we have inspected the whole stock.

I was amused when I heard an old timer say on the corner that it was time to clean the capitol and turn the rascals out and the people in.

Truck Drivers Get Small Hike in Pay

Striking truck drivers on the Burlington road project are now back at work with a ten per cent increase in their pay, it was announced by Bill Morrison, attorney, who represented the men before the Commissioners Court in a hearing Thursday. Tax payers in the Burlington district said they did not know whether the money would last if another increase were granted. The men were receiving 3c a running mile. They struck for 7 1-2c per running mile, but compromised when the 10 per cent increase was tendered. This is far short of what they originally asked for. When the men struck they asked for a 50 per cent increase. They took ten per cent.

Burlington tax payers granted as large increase as funds would permit, said Mr. Morrison.

Preference will be given county trucks on the work.

REPRESENTATIVE, UP STAIRS WERNER BUILDING Santa Fe Town. Cameron, Texas

Brenham, delivered an eulogy. Back in the days when he was pastor of the church here, he lived a neighbor to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hefley. It was a touching and beautiful tribute he paid to the pioneers who came here in the vanguard of progress. He remembered with especial kindness the deceased whose active membership in the church was a great help in those days.

L. J. Hefley was one of a number of brothers who came to Milam county from Tennessee, among them John M. Hefley who established the First National Bank. The Hefley's made history in Cameron and left their impress upon the times in which they lived. The Hefley name is linked with the history of Cameron and it was to the special contribution to the better citizenship that Dr. Willis referred when he talked in a simple, impressive way about those who have gone away, leaving such heritages of memory.

Rev. J. Coy Williams, pastor of the church, joined in the tribute to the family and led the service with prayer. In the choir were faces Mrs. Hefley knew a quarter century ago when her life was more active in church.

Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery by the side of her late husband who died about 15 years ago in Oklahoma. He was a farmer peace officer here. The Leland Green funeral home directed the arrangements and the following were pall bearers: R. L. Batte, R. H. McIntosh, E. Vogelsang, August Gurecky, Bill Alex Bonds, Robert McLane, Dr. James Watson and J. B. White.

Surviving are: Mrs. J. C. Washinka, daughter, Stillwater, Oklahoma; Hugh Hefley of St. Louis, Mo.; and three sons, Hugh Hefley of St. Louis, Mo.; Jack Hefley of Dallas; and H. M. Hefley of Cameron. A niece here is Miss Henriem Hefley.

Those from out of town here for the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hefley, McAlister, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. James Washinka and son, Jack, Stillwater, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hefley and daughter, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Willis and daughter, Brenham; Charles Hefley, Jr., Dallas.

At The THEATREBy
GEO. WINCHELLE

By far the best bet of the week that remains is Victor McLaglen's picture "Sea Devils." Along with him is Preston Foster to give an extra dash to the typical background for McLaglen's best style of acting. He is popular with Cameron fans and never fails to turn in a good performance. McLaglen once fought Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world. The Picture is at the Cameron Theatre Saturday, May 22.

Bette Davis, the charming Southern girl whose big time screen career has scraped down more star dust than the average is reputed to be giving the best performance of the week at Cameron Theatre Thursday and Friday in "The Marked Woman." This column stakes its reputation almost as good as "Seventh Heaven" and you know its got to be plenty good.

The nation's best is in "Wake Up and Live" for what more could you hope for in this Sunday and Monday picture at Cameron Theatre than Walter Winchell and Ben Bernie both. Either would have guaranteed a good show, now that both are on, the fire works should fly. Its the kind of picture that will make you really wake up and live.

Its a riot of music and new songs, maybe a lot better than Waikiki Wedding and 'Top O' The Town.' The musical shows are popular in Cameron.

On Tuesday, May 25, "Her Husband's Secretary" is the kind of picture that packs in the censors. Its wide appeal to millions who throb over the moral trend have given this picture one of the best box office runs in the nation. Jean Muir and Warren Hull team up in this stark drama of love and tangled hearts. Better go see it.

"Woman Wise" is another cracking good newspaper story. They are always good and this one especially since it features Rochelle Hudson and Michael Whalen. Its a new 20th Century Fox hit, a bang up thriller crammed with laughs and wise cracks. Its for one day only, May 26. If you've got a cracked lip don't go.
